

MATTER OF LABEL

It's a matter of labels pretty considerably. If you're a man, a woman, an automobile, a rose or a polecat, the label is one thing that counts. The hardest kind of work is easy if properly tagged "Play." Tom Sawyer made that discovery early in life when he secured assistance in whitewashing his fence. Mostly, things you HAVE to do aren't any fun at all.

The other day after a rain-out in San Diego, water settled in several little ponds on the newsies' baseball grounds. It required no threatened spanking to make those kids get a hustle on. In a twinkling they had every can in sight gathered up and were dipping the water from the ponds and carrying it to the edge of the sidewalk. One little canful after another they carried, until the water was gone. Then the youngsters started a baseball game.

Label your work properly.
